Updates

Every once in a while Nuvio will let you know that a new update is available. It will do this by providing you an update banner on the top of your desktop app screen as shown below

4. Nuvio Mobile

Source: Github

At this moment of writing the only possibility to install Nuvio on mobile simply is on Android phones and especially Graphene OS or any other non Google Android. Now, you cannot find Nuvio in the Playstore and hence neither in the Aurora store for Graphene OS. However, as free Graphene OS/Android is we can easily install it via their APK files that are provided on their Github Nuvio Mobile release page.

1. Simply open up your web browser on your phone
2. Go to the Nuvio Mobile release page
3. Download the androidApp-full-arm64-v8a-release.apk file to your device
4. Install the APK

Perfect! Now if you have already made an anonymous account on the desktop version then login with that otherwise you can create one now. If you want to stay anonymous make sure to use a VPN and use random credentials that you can save in your Vaultwarden password wallet.

Updates

Well, since APK's that are downloaded outside an Appstore e.g Playstore, F-Droid etcetera it won't receive automatic updates. Hence, each time an update comes along you need to delete the old app and install the new APK version.
